Brugnoli: “An even match between two important candidates”

Pubblicato: Sabato 24 Marzo 2012

Giovanni Brugnoli, the chairperson of the Union of Industrialists of Varese Province, comments on the election of Giorgio Squinzi, the owner of the company Mapei, to the position of national Chairperson of the Confederation of Italian Industry, Confindustria. We remind him that the vote by the committee of Industrialists was evenly balanced between the two candidates. Squinzi won with 93 votes, against Alberto Bombassei, the owner of the company Brembo, who got 82.

“We’re convinced that Giorgio Squinzi will be an excellent chairperson for Confindustria. His appointment as the leader of our Association for the next four years is the confirmation of how much the organisation can rely on important entrepreneurs of the quality of Squinzi and Bombassei. The narrow victory is the demonstration that both candidates have what it takes to pick up the baton of the important and valuable work that Emma Marcegaglia has been able to achieve during these hard times. The challenges that Confindustria and the country will have to face in the next few years are crucial for the future of businesses, and we’re convinced that Giorgio Squinzi has got all the best qualities and vision that are essential if he is to work well and face the challenges we have ahead. This is demonstrated by his résumé and by his experience acquired as a successful entrepreneur, and as part of Confindustria. I wish Squinzi all the best, and my compliments go to Alberto Bombassei, who is still an important member, who will be able to continue to bring his knowledge and ideas to the work of Confindustria in support of Italian manufacturers.”
