Governo Letta e armi chimiche in Siria

Pubblicato: Giovedì 25 Aprile 2013

The screenshot shows the homepage of the Spanish newspaper EL PAÍS. At the top, the newspaper's name is prominently displayed in a large, bold, black font. Below the title, a navigation bar features several colored buttons with white text: 'INTERNACIONAL' (blue), 'POLÍTICA' (orange), 'ECONOMÍA' (pink), 'CULTURA' (teal), 'SOCIEDAD' (green), and 'DEPORTES' (light green). Below the navigation bar, there is a horizontal news banner with several headlines: 'ESTÁ PASANDO' (6 millones de parados), '25-A Asedia el Congreso', 'Pescanova', 'Primarias PSOE', and 'MÁS TEMAS'. To the right of the banner is a video player labeled 'EL PAÍS TV'. Below the banner, a blue header bar reads 'ACCEDE A LA NUEVA EDICIÓN AMÉRICA DE EL PAÍS'. The main content area features a large headline: 'EE UU denuncia por primera vez que Siria ha usado armas químicas'. Below the headline is a sub-headline: 'ANTONIO CAÑO | Washington □ 735'. A brief text summary follows, mentioning that the US secretary of defense claims there are proof of an attack with sarin gas on civilians. To the right of the main article, there is a video thumbnail for 'EL PAÍS TV' showing a crowd of people, with a 'VER VÍDEO' button. On the far right, there are sections for 'OPINIÓN' (with an article about Venezuela), 'Pulso en Caracas', and 'EDITORIAL'. At the bottom right, there are social media links for 'openbank' and 'tarjetas 4b y Visa gratis', along with icons for following on various platforms.
